RECIPES FROM THE KITCHEN OF GRANDMA HARRIS

the whole recipe box, in her own hand

A FAMILY COOKBOOK

Behind the yellow tab dividers of a green metal recipe box — BREADS, PIES & PASTRIES, CASSEROLES, FISH & SEAFOODS, PRESERVES & JELLIES — is a lifetime of feeding people: cinnamon buns for the breadmaker, four different Nanaimo bars, punches from the gas company and the church basement, saskatoon pie, cabbage rolls from a relative in Saskatchewan, and the play-dough recipe for the grandchildren.

Every card in Grandma Harris's box is here, transcribed exactly as she wrote it, with the original card alongside — her blue ballpoint, her shorthand, her "V.G." in the corner.

Bake till done.
